In 2022, the European Commission approved a Communication (based on public consultation with different stakeholders and the member states) in which it has set out future guidance on the EU's economic governance framework and its reform, aimed at achieving simpler, more transparent and effective regulation, with greater national ownership, and reducing high public debt ratios in a realistic, gradual and sustained manner, as well as enhancing inclusive economic growth via strategic investments. In addressing the challenges and reform of EU Governance, it is essential to take into account the international context and the global economic situation.

Second session: ARCHITECTURE OF THE NEW GOVERNANCE: THE STRUCTURAL MEDIUM-TERM BUDGETARY PLANS AND SPECIFIC NET EXPENDITURE PATHWAYS FOR EACH COUNTRY. DEBT SUSTAINABILITY AND FISCAL PRUDENCE WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF ECONOMIC AND MONETARY UNION

Under the new Governance rules, member states would have more room for manoeuvre in setting their individual fiscal adjustment pathways, reinforcing national sovereignty over their selected fiscal routes. Economic policy decisions are subject to voluntary coordination at European level, with the result that one member state's decisions or economic developments strongly affect other member states and can be contagious.

A framework of fiscal discipline that promotes sustainable finances is essential to ensure macroeconomic stability and the smooth functioning of the EMU.

Chaired and moderated by the Right Honourable Mr Francisco Javier Márquez Sánchez, senator of the Cortes Generales.

Fourth session: OPEN STRATEGIC AUTONOMY.

International openness is a fundamental pillar of the European Union, and is inherent in the economic and social progress achieved since its creation. However, the effects of globalisation have highlighted the dangers of the Union's strategic dependence on third countries, demonstrating weaknesses and the risk of shortcomings, which threaten the well-being of citizens and the competitiveness of European companies. These vulnerabilities could worsen under the complex international order, with the emergence of new conflicts and the impact of climate change,. It is therefore necessary to establish a European strategic autonomy that does not lean towards protectionism.
